Thoughts on 'Passion', 9/11 and the election

When The Passion of the Christ first came out, I'd heard a lot about it just like everybody I guess. All the violence and controversy and stuff seemed way too 'heavy' for me. It was all too much of a downer. Who needed that, right?

Well, I finally went to see it this weekend. I've never been more surprised by a movie in my life. From the opening minutes until the end, I was totally caught up by it. Even though there were subtitles, I forgot I was reading them.

I find it amazing the actors were speaking an ancient language and yet conveyed such emotion. The acting was worthy of anyone's definition of what acting is supposed to be.

The cinematography is beautiful. The scenes of the beatings and the crucifixion are hard to watch, yet seeing how Jesus overcame the cruelty of the Romans and the crowds is inspiring. I don't tear up much at movies, but it's hard not to watching this one.

It's definitely an exceptional film and Mel Gibson has every right to be proud of his accomplishment in making it. I'm glad I finally saw it. It's something I'll remember and think about for a long time. If you haven't seen it, I highly recommend it.

Tomorrow is the anniversary of 9/11. How America's world has changed since then. The three thousand plus victims of the airplanes, the Twin Towers and the Pentagon have been joined by over 1000 American Soldiers and Marines killed in Iraq. As an Israeli told an American friend on 9/11, "Welcome to our nightmare." Let's observe the silence tomorrow for victims of terrorism all over the world; for those in Madrid and the innocent school children in Russia just this past week; for all the non-combatants killed in Iraq, most of whom were there just trying to help the Iraqi people; for those Iraqis who are braving the violence trying to build a new Iraq with hope for the future. They have such a struggle ahead of them.

Terrorists have to be confronted. But they have to be confronted carefully and in a manner that will yield the greatest results. They deserve no quarter and no mercy, for they surely give none. No nation on this earth is immune to it. The only hope to combat it is for the world to truly join together and bring all the resources needed to bear. And never, never give in.

It's been said about the Middle East conflict between the Palestinians and the Israelis, that the only way there will be peace is when Palestinians and Israelis love their children more than they hate each other.

Maybe that goes for the whole world.

The election is less than two months away. Jan Waddell wrote a column about how young the sailors on the USS Lake Erie are. When people vote, I hope they bear in mind that the person they vote for will have the power to send these 'babies' and others like them into harm's way.

I hope we all vote wisely and more importantly for someone who is wise.

9/11 to be observed with moment of silence

By Jan Waddell
Reporter

Where were you on September 11, 2001 at 8:45 a.m.? Where will you be tomorrow at noon?

As we approach the third anniversary of the attack on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, a "Moment of Silence" will be observed tomorrow in memory of those who died.

The island siren will sound for five seconds to remind residents of the tragedy and those who died three years ago. The island siren will then sound for another five seconds to remind everyone to look to the future.

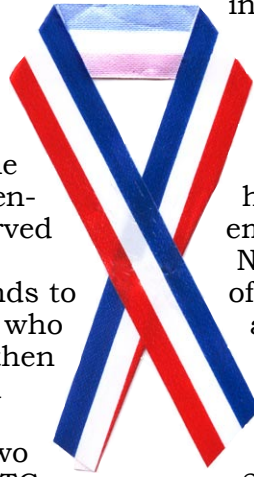

Many remember the shocking news of two commercial jetliners crashing into the WTC Twin Towers and, as we watched or listened in horror, we learned of yet another plane crashing into an icon of defense, the Pentagon and another in a field in Pennsylvania.

As we watched images of crumbling buildings, people jumping for their lives and firefighters struggling to rescue survivors, American flags sprouted from homes, buildings, and cars. It became the emblem to unify a grief-stricken nation.

Now as we approach the third anniversary of the September 11 tragedy, we are once again reminded of those who lost their lives.

According to the Website www.september11victims.com, 2,948 are confirmed dead, 24 are reported dead and 24 are reported missing as a result of the September 11 attack.

The following is a time line of events on September 11, 2001:

*At 8:46 a.m., American flight 11 from Boston crashed into the North Tower of the WTC.
On flight 11, 92 people died.*

*At 9:03 a.m., United flight 175 from Boston crashed into the South Tower of the WTC.
On flight 175, 56 people died.*

At 9:45 a.m., American Airlines flight 77 from Dulles International Airport crashed into the Pentagon. On flight 77, 64 people died.

At 10:05 a.m., the South Tower collapsed.

At 10:10 a.m., a large section of the Pentagon collapsed.

*At 10:10 a.m., United Flight 93 crashed in Pennsylvania.
On flight 93, 45 people died.*

At 10:28 a.m., the North Tower collapsed.

Some information for this story was obtained from the Websites www.september11victims.com and www.september11news.com.

The Pentagon's America's Heroes Memorial is dedicated to the 184 people killed in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attack on the Pentagon. The names of the victims are engraved on black acrylic panels inside the horseshoe-shaped memorial. A book containing photographs and biographies of each of the victims is at the center of the memorial under the "United in Memory" seal.

Chaplain brings gift of song and desire to serve

By Mig Owens
Assistant Editor

After twelve years with the luxury of both a car and driver, Fr. John Sheehan finds that a sturdy tree on which to lean his bike is all he really needs.

Sheehan arrived on Kwajalein Aug. 12 as Catholic Chaplain, taking the place of Fr. William Sullivan, who left in July for medical reasons. Sheehan comes to Kwajalein after serving in Lagos, Nigeria in West Africa.

"What I have found is real need – not a retirement post," Sheehan said. "The community is full of people who seem to want to do things. It also happens that we get to do it in the Garden of Eden."

While in Africa, Sheehan served in many capacities. He was the regional treasurer for the Jesuits in Nigeria and Ghana and director of development and communications for the region. For five and a half years, Sheehan was assistant to the regional superior.

Outside, and sometimes alongside work, Sheehan made his mark in Africa as a singer. He served on the archdiocesan music committee and on several committees for the Musical Society of Nigeria. Sheehan has three CDs to his credit including, Father John Sings Sacred Songs, The Several Sides of Father John, and Father John Live in Concert.

"I'm blessed with a singular lack of ambition. Because of that, I'm always willing to try new things," Sheehan said.

With a life that resembles that of Forrest Gump, Sheehan started out in professional theater and broadcasting. His first professional job in New York was singing Gilbert and Sullivan for the Light Opera of Manhattan.

Sheehan admits to running talent pageants and being involved in the circus. He was there at the Martin Luther King speech, the 1964 Linden Johnson nomination, riots and at Woodstock.

"I keep turning up at things," Sheehan said. "It's dumb luck. One thing feeds into another. When you're open to those kinds of experiences, those things happen."

After studying theology in Toronto, Sheehan was ordained in 1992.

"My image of what it is to be a priest had a lot to do with the Last Supper. Jesus knew he was going and it's a dramatic image of him washing feet," Sheehan said. "My job is to help the people here get closer to God, whatever that means to them and however they want to do it."

For that reason, Sheehan's philosophy is to go where the people are instead of waiting for them to come to him.

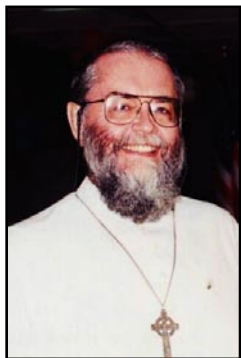

"I want to get out into the community – fishing, singing, whatever," Sheehan said. "I'm looking forward to being a regular on the golf course. Either I'll become a golfer or there'll be clubs for sale by December."

Sheehan is already taking classes in Marshallese and boating.

"This is a Norman Rockwell village where people don't lock their doors and kids ride bikes – it's the way things should be," Sheehan said. "My sense is that everyone is relaxed, welcoming and real."

Sheehan explains that his vision of the church is as embracing as possible. He encourages people to drop by the chaplain's office, stop him on the street, or "offer to buy him a drink at any of the local clubs."

"I want to be available and present to help wherever I can," Sheehan said. "Priests are caretakers. The church belongs to the people."

The Kwajalein Mission Control Center in Building 1010 is a critical part of every mission.

The KMCC, like mission control seen in movies, features a variety of displays and control stations where staff monitor every aspect of the mission.

The KMCC has a variety of personnel handling different parts of each mission. Pictured to the left, are government personnel including the Range Control Officer, whose responsibility is to execute the mission and represent Reagan Test Site in the mission countdown.

The other personnel are console operators who monitor the different RTS sensors and communications.

"They are assessing both the performance of the RTS sensors and the behavior of the target complex and making any necessary decisions to alter the pre-determined test plan or invoke pre-planned contingency plans to ensure that RTS collects the data our customer is paying us to collect," said Steve Hill, manager of Plans and Operations.

The Mission Technical Director stands behind the console operators and is the real-time decision maker, directing the overall data collection operation.

Not shown is the lower tower seating, where the United States Army Kwajalein Atoll and RTS Commanders sit along with the MIT and KRS site leaders.

The Commanders are on hand in the event a command-level decision is needed.

USAKA food sale guidelines implemented

By Jan Waddell
Reporter

A new policy and guidelines for fund-raising food sales by private organizations took effect in August. The policy allows private organizations to prepare and sell food, for fund raising purposes, on a periodic basis.

USAKA Community Activities regulates food sales and all guidelines must be followed.

The organization requesting to sell food items must submit a request to USAKA Community Activities no later than 14 days prior to the event and the request must include the date, time, location, expected head count, organization and a copy of the proposed menu.

An individual from the organization must take the KRS Food Safety training class and must be physically present at the food sale at all times.

Also, a person from either KRS or USAKA must sign an acknowledgment that the site has been reviewed and is deemed safe.

If the site is deemed unsafe, the serving of food will be suspended immediately.

There are restriction and limitations to the policy. Bakery products, which require refrigeration such as cream filings, custard, pumpkin pie and cheesecakes, are prohibited. All baked goods must be packaged, wrapped or covered while being sold and a flyer stating the foods have not been inspected to determine if the food meets the requirements of the Army Food Sanitation, TB MED 530 must be posted.

"It doesn't impact the Fiesta Hispanic Club or the Kwajalein Filipino Civic Club," said Lolita Allas, past KFCC advisor and current Fiesta Hispanic Club advisor. "We've always abided by the rules."

According to Allas, the KFCC has fund raisers two to three times a year during the Spring Break Music Festival, Fourth of July and the Extravaganza.

Typical dishes served by the KFCC are Beef Calderata, Pork/Chicken Adobo, meat sticks, pancit, lumpias and leche flan.

"I normally attend the safety classes, but if I'm not going to be available during the events, I have someone from KFCC attend," Allas said. "During the last two fund raising events Arlene Goldsmith attended the Food Safety presentation and was also present at both events."

The two-year-old FHC has participated in a Cinco De Mayo fund raising event offering home-made foods such as enchiladas, burritos, Spanish rice, pozole, picadillo tostadas and tacos.

"The USAKA Food Policy memorandum has never been an issue for the Fiesta Hispanic Club," said Lisa Loreda-Flores, president of the FHC. "We have three serve-safe qualified individuals who monitor all our food preparation and they ensure that all policies are being followed. Our goal has always been to accommodate the community as well as follow guidelines. The policy is in place for the safety of the community and our club will do what it needs to do to keep it that way."

"For both clubs I encourage different members to attend so that all will understand the importance of following the guidelines," Allas said.

Rising food prices affect Kwajalein

By Mig Owens
Assistant Editor

A trip to Surfway may be costing the average resident more than they bargained for. Soaring energy prices, high-protein diets and global economic forces share the blame.

According to Lester Brown of the Earth Policy Institute, price increases during the first quarter of 2004 over the like period in 2003 range from a two-percent rise in the price of milk to a 29-percent rise for eggs.

"Meat prices are up across the board," Brown said. "A pound of ground chuck climbed from $2.10 a year ago to $2.48, up 18 percent. Whole fryers were also up 18 percent. Pork chops were up 10 percent."

Energy prices affect the price of food because cost of fuel, which has been on the rise since March, required for transporting, processing, packaging and distributing food is passed along to consumers.

The trend toward high-protein diets has also increased demand and resulted in higher retail prices in the livestock sector, according to Bob Stallman, president of the American Farm Bureau.

"Demand for beef is now at an all-time high, while the U.S. cattle herd is the smallest it has been since the 1950's," Stallman said.

Animal disease outbreaks in major exporting countries are also contributing to a shortage in meat supply.

Globally, the price of basic food and feed commodities are on the rise, according to Brown.

"Rises in the price of wheat and rice (the world's two basic food staples) and corn and soybeans (the principal feedstuffs) are contributing to higher food prices worldwide, including in China and the United States, the largest food producers," Brown said.

The shortage of soybean meal used as a protein source for livestock means that it costs farmers more to feed their livestock and may dissuade them from adding more to their herd.

Also contributing to the dilemma is global warming. Rising temperatures and drought are acting to shrink grain harvests.

"Higher prices reflect sagging production in the face of soaring demand as the world continues to add more than seventy million people a year and as incomes rise, enabling more of the world's people to consume grain-based livestock and poultry products," Brown said.

Concern in the Kwajalein community about food prices was voiced at a recent Sensing Meeting. Because food is purchased in CONUS, it is affected by market forces in the United States," Paul Divinski, retail manager, Merchandising and Provisioning said.

While what is happening in America affects us here, Divinski explains that the food stores on Kwajalein are a reflection of CONUS costs.

Range operation scheduled for Sept. 15

A range operation is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 15. Caution times are 7:01 p.m. through 3:01 a.m., Thursday, Sept. 16. In conjunction with this operation, a caution area will exist within the Kwajalein Atoll defined by the area bounded on the north by Boked Island on the east reef and Yabbernohr Island on the west reef and bounded on the south by the line drawn north of Bigej Island on the east reef to a point at latitude 08 54.2N, longitude 167 45.8E, then to a point at latitude 08 52.8N, longitude 167 45.8E and then to a point north of the high tide mark on Ninni Island on the west reef. Bigej Island, including the inner reef, is specifically excluded and is not part of the mid-atoll corridor. Illeginni is designated as an evacuation island. All other mid-atoll corridor islands are designated as sheltered islands. Additional areas specified outside the mid-atoll are designated as caution areas. See maps.

In order to ensure clearance of non-mission support personnel from the mid-atoll corridor by the window opening time, KPD island clearance procedures will begin at approximately 7:30 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 12, and continue until evacuation has been accomplished. Egress of all air and seacraft will be required when requested by authorized clearance personnel. Subsequent to lagoon clearance, the hazard area will be in effect until mission completion.

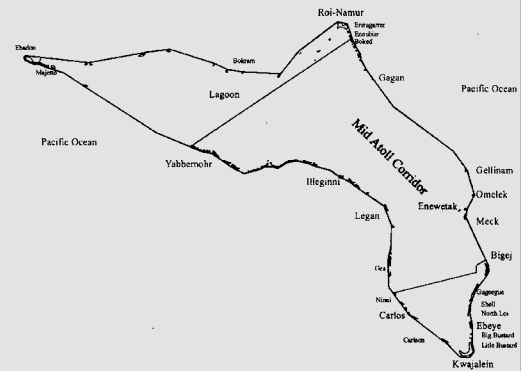

In the event of a mission slip, the caution times and areas will be in effect for the following days:

7:01 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 16 through 3:01 a.m., Friday, Sept. 17

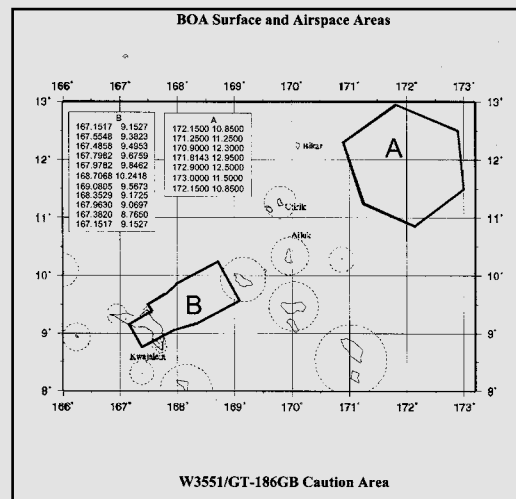

7:01 p.m., Friday, Sept. 17 through 3:01 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 18.

Questions regarding the above safety requirements for this mission should be directed to the Command Safety Office, Range Safety Officer, 52477.

Family dining coming to Café Pacific

By Mig Owens
Assistant Editor

Café Pacific will offer families an alternative place to dine starting Sept. 19. In addition to Sunday brunch and holidays, families will be welcome to enjoy all their evening meals there.

"We are allowing families to eat at Café Pacific because we don't have a Yuk Club and Three Palms is limited," Joe Marshall, deputy program manager for Community Services said. "As a relief to the community, we are opening up Café Pacific until we get a facility for families."

This change is not expected to interfere with normal operations at Café Pacific and the effort will be supported by the current staff and diverse menus, according to Marshall. Food quantities will be monitored and required adjustments made to the supply system.

Addressing reaction to the change, Marshall said, "Some will like it, some dislike it. Overall it will be an improvement for the island. We have to adjust our paradigms to meet the needs of the entire community – take actions to improve quality of life for all."

The cost of an evening meal at Café Pacific is $4 for children and $7.75 for adults.

The price of brunches will range based on menus.

Input from the community is welcome and customer satisfaction surveys are available at Café Pacific on each table.

"This is another innovation of KRS to meet the failing infrastructure on island and support USAKA's effort to improve the quality of life," Marshall said.

“ We are allowing families to eat at Café Pacific because we don't have a Yuk Club and Three Palms is limited. ”

The 7th Annual Hanapa'a Labor Day Fishing Tournament was held Sunday and Monday with this year's entrants hauling in the fish.

The largest fish landed was by Torrey Landers aided by teammates Kaya Landers, Brian Brewster, James Curtis and Tish Kuskulis. They weighed in a 149.7-pound marlin to land the biggest fish of the tournament.

Gregg Grundon landed a 38.8-pound ono and took first in the largest ono category. He was aided by teammates Les Saulibio, Cassie Wright and Dave Waddell.

A banquet was held Monday evening to celebrate the weekend's event.

According to Kelly Furgeson, everyone had a great time.
